

Crossway Academic Resources

FALL 2022

Dear Colleagues in Ministry,

Thank you for your interest in Crossway's latest academic titles. We are excited to offer an excellent selection of resources across several disciplines. Let me draw your attention to a few highlights in the pages that follow.

With The Holy Spirit—The Helper, Crossway launches the Complete Works of John Owen. In this 40-volume project, the entirety of John Owen's writings will be presented in a modern format, complete with new introductions and text not available in other editions. We hope it will inspire a new generation to encounter Owen and, more importantly, Owen's God.

In Scribes and Scripture, John D. Meade and Peter J. Gurry offer a detailed yet accessible description of the story of the Bible. Including discussions on the development of writing, transmission, canonizing, and translation, it is an ideal introduction to the Bible's history for use in the church and the academy.

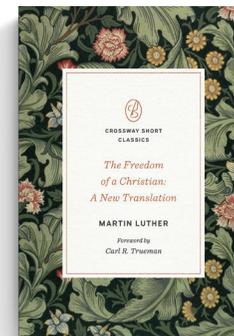

Steven M. Bryan offers a wise, evenhanded, and biblical account of the subject of race in Cultural Identity and the Purposes of God. With exegetical insight and precision, he constructs a biblical theology of identity, race, and nationality, showing compellingly that God's purposes are not only for people, but also for peoples.

We pray that these resources might impart some fresh biblical insight, present some profound truth, and stir your feelings for God in Christ.

May God be glorified as these resources are used to faithfully continue your ministry.

Tolle Lege,

Benjamin Smith (PhD, Wheaton College)
Academic and Church Relations Manager
