PAUL DAVID TRIPP
JOURNEY TO THE CROSS
A 40-Day Lenten Devotional

Lent is one of the most significant times of the yearly Christian calendar. It is often associated with solemn observation and preparation—mourning past and present sin and letting go of the worldly things that keep the heart from experiencing God more fully. In this 40-day Lenten devotional, best-selling author Paul David Tripp invites readers to set aside time from the busyness of their lives to focus on the suffering and sacrifice of Jesus. Each short reading encourages believers to abide in the abundant joy found in Christ, as they encounter the Savior more fully and follow him more faithfully.

DISTINCTIVES

JEN WILKIN
TEN WORDS TO LIVE BY
Delighting in and Doing What God Commands

In Ten Words to Live By, Jen Wilkin reminds readers of the life-giving power of God’s perfect law for the believer. The Ten Commandments are words about obedience and holiness—timeless in their importance and wisdom—spoken by God to a nation recently set free. They are words about obedience and holiness—timeless in their importance and wisdom. Yet today these same words are often misunderstood, forgotten, or simply ignored.

Wilkin teaches readers how the Ten Commandments come to bear on their lives today, helping them to love God and others, live in joyful freedom, and long for that future day when God will be rightly worshiped for eternity. Ancient and timeless, these words cannot be overlooked. They serve as the rightful delight and daily meditation of those who call on the name of the Lord.

DISTINCTIVES
• Written by Jen Wilkin, best-selling author of Women of the Word
• Equips believers to rightly understand and delight in God’s law
• Examines the historical background of each of the Ten Commandments and how they apply today
• Helps readers to grasp the significance of how the law informs our understanding of true freedom

AUDIENCE
Women interested in learning how the Ten Commandments apply today; pastors; Bible studies and small groups; readers of Jen Wilkin’s previous books

JEN WILKIN is a speaker, writer, and teacher of women’s Bible studies. During her seventeen years of teaching, she has organized and led studies for women in home, church, and parachurch contexts. Jen and her family are members of the Village Church in Flower Mound, Texas.

The providence of God is his purposeful sovereignty by which he will be completely successful in the achievement of his ultimate goal for the universe. God’s providence carries his plans into action, guides all things toward his ultimate goal, and leads to the final consummation. John Piper draws on a lifetime of theological reflection, biblical study, and practical ministry to lead readers on a stunning tour of the sightings of God’s providence—from Genesis to Revelation—to discover the all-encompassing reality of God’s purposeful sovereignty over all of creation and all of history. Exploring the goal, nature, and extent of God’s purposes for the world, Piper offers an invitation to know the God who holds all things in his hands yet remains intimately involved in the lives of his people.

DISTINCTIVES

In a world of increasing ideological diversity, kids are being challenged to think through their own beliefs at an early age. Questions like How can you believe the Bible is true?; Why can’t we just agree that love is love?; and Isn’t Christianity against diversity? can seem like roadblocks for kids who are following Jesus, as well as for those who might otherwise consider faith in Christ. In this helpful book—written both for Christian kids and for those who think Jesus is just a fairy tale character—Rebecca McLaughlin invites readers ages 12-15 to dig deep into hard questions for themselves and perhaps discover that the things that once looked like roadblocks to faith might actually be signposts.

DISTINCTIVES
- Written by Rebecca McLaughlin, author of Confronting Christianity, which was named Christianity Today’s 2020 Beautiful Orthodoxy Book of the Year and named winner of the Gospel Coalition 2019 Book Award for Evangelism and Apologetics

Today’s world has more and more information readily available, but less and less wisdom. Many people seek to acquire wisdom from easily accessible sources such as social media and popular culture but are often misled. How should Christians acquire wisdom in today’s media-saturated culture?

Inspired by the concept of the food pyramid, Brett McCracken presents a biblical paradigm for wisdom in today’s distracted age, illustrating his argument through a “wisdom pyramid.” McCracken suggests a balanced, healthy diet of information from sources ranked in order of importance—the Bible, the church, nature, books, beauty, and lastly, the Internet and social media. By focusing on lasting and reliable sources of wisdom and by being more discerning about the information they consume, Christians will become wiser—not for their own glorification, but ultimately for God’s.

DISTINCTIVES
- Proposes the Bible as the foundational source of wisdom
- Presents 3 marks of wisdom: discernment, patience, and humility
- Examines less reliable sources of information, such as social media and popular culture
- Explores how the church can offer the world a deeper source of information through the application of God’s wisdom

1–2 PETER
Living Hope in a Hard World

When the apostle Peter wrote his letters, the young church was facing intensifying persecution, and Peter encouraged believers to persevere through hardship. This 10-week study explores the theme of suffering in Peter’s letters, displaying how God uses hope, humility, and holiness to prepare believers for their final home in heaven.

The Flourish Bible Study series equips women to study the overarching storyline of the Bible book by book. Designed for individual or group use, each 10-week workbook features conversational teaching that aims to make in-depth Bible study accessible to women in all seasons of life, along with practical application questions and additional recommended resources.

DISTINCTIVES
• Explains the historical context of the books of 1–2 Peter
• Inductive guide with application questions at the end of each chapter
• Suitable for individual or group settings
• 10-week study plan
• Includes recommended resources for further reading and study
• The second installment of the Flourish Bible Study series

AUDIENCE
Those interested in the books of 1–2 Peter; women of all ages; group Bible studies; Sunday school classes; anyone interested in learning inductive Bible study

LYDIA BROWNBACK (MAR, Westminster Theological Seminary) is the author of several books and a speaker at women’s conferences around the world. Her books include the On-the-Go Devotionals for women; Finding God in My Loneliness; and Sing a New Song.
Fear is one of the strongest human emotions, and it is one that often baffles Christians. When they turn to the Bible, the picture seems equally confusing: Is fear a good thing or a bad thing? While God commands his people to fear him, they are also told to fight fear.

Michael Reeves brings clarity where there is confusion as he encourages readers to rejoice in the strange paradox that the gospel both frees them from sinful fear and leads them to godly fear. This book argues from Scripture that godly fear is the opposite of being afraid of God or his punishment, as if he were a tyrant. Instead, it is the intensity of the saints’ love for, delight in, and enjoyment of all that God is. Rejoice and Tremble examines what it looks like when a believer is filled with a right and healthy fear of God, and how this fear is the means by which the people of God exhibit to the world the divine qualities of holiness, blessedness, happiness, wholeness, and beauty as they point to Christ Jesus.

What the Bible Says about Divorce and Remarriage

Available February 16, 2021
Trade Paperback, 5” x 7”
978-1-4335-6826-8, $7.99, 112 pages

The topic of divorce is a complicated one, even among Christians. The Bible provides some clear answers, but other areas remain blurry: Is divorce morally acceptable in a case of physical abuse? If a divorce is granted for biblically legitimate reasons, is remarriage allowed? Can a divorced person become a church officer? In this short booklet, theologian Wayne Grudem offers a thought-provoking analysis of what the Bible says—and doesn’t say—about divorce and remarriage. By combining theological insight with practical application, Grudem brings clarity to a difficult topic and helpful guidance to those looking for direction.

What the Bible Says about Birth Control, Infertility, Reproductive Technology, and Adoption

Available February 16, 2021
Trade Paperback, 5” x 7”
978-1-4335-6986-9, $7.99, 96 pages

The topic of reproductive issues is a sensitive one that every married couple must face. Advances in reproductive technology offer couples more options than ever before to have children—fertility treatment methods; embryo adoption; and preimplantation genetic screening. With all of these solutions available, plus the blessing of adoption, it can be difficult for Christian couples to determine which to consider when the Bible doesn’t give explicit answers. Theologian Wayne Grudem applies biblical truth and ethical reasoning to these problems in order to help Christians navigate issues surrounding birth control, infertility, reproductive technology, and adoption as they seek to live out God’s word in an ever-changing society.
Many new believers have questions about what it means to live as a Christian in the context of a local church, and pastors are looking for resources to recommend to their congregations to help them think biblically about the Christian life. Church Questions is a series that seeks to provide ordinary Christians with sound and accessible biblical teaching by answering common questions about church life. Each volume offers biblical answers and practical applications with the goal of nurturing healthy church practice and commitment.

SERIES DISTINCTIVES
• Introduces major topics of systematic theology simply and concisely
• Written by a well-respected evangelical theologians
• Each volume develops a doctrine from throughout the Bible and sets it in context within the whole of Christian theology
In the beginning, the perfectly good God created a perfectly good universe. Through the sin of Adam and Eve, however, this creation lapsed into a fallen state—yet God promised to bring restoration. In this addition to the Short Studies in Biblical Theology series, Frank Thielman traces the theme of the new creation from Genesis to Revelation. Throughout the biblical story, God has pointed again and again to a new creation, inaugurated by the return of Jesus. As Christians pursue their work on earth with the love, kindness, and generosity God has shown them, they already experience this new creation and exemplify it to a needy, watching world.

DISTINCTIVES
• Part of the Short Studies in Biblical Theology series
• A biblical theology of the new creation
• Explores the important role of the church in the new creation
• Encourages readers with the hope of restoration found in the gospel

AUDIENCE
Pastors and church leaders; interested laypeople; Bible studies, small groups, and Sunday school classes; seminary students and professors

FRANK THIELMAN (PhD, Duke University) is Presbyterian Chair of Divinity and professor of New Testament at Beeson Divinity School. He is also an ordained Presbyterian (PCA) minister and the author of many books and commentaries.

Matt Merker
CORPORATE WORSHIP
How the Church gathers as God’s People

Christians “worship” God at church every week, but many don’t know exactly what worship is or why they do it. For some, it’s a warm-up for the sermon. For others, worship is a “me-and-Jesus” moment. But what is the biblically informed way to view corporate worship?

In this addition to the 9Marks Building Healthy Churches series, Matt Merker explores the Bible’s teaching about corporate worship as an activity in which God gathers the church by his grace, unto his glory, for his people’s mutual good, and before the world’s gaze. This book offers a biblical and theological perspective on this often misunderstood topic so believers can participate in gathered worship that is God-centered and mutually edifying, rather than for self-fulfillment.

DISTINCTIVES
• Part of the 9Marks Building Healthy Churches series
• Foreword by Ligon Duncan, chancellor of Reformed Theological Seminary
• Introduction to what corporate worship is, why it matters, and how the church engages in it
• Explores the relationship between ecclesiology (church) and doxology (worship)

AUDIENCE
Pastors; worship leaders; laypeople who want to understand the purpose of corporate worship; Bible study classes

Matt Merker (MDiv, Southern Baptist Theological Seminary) is director of creative resources and training for Getty Music and has contributed to several modern hymns, including “He Will Hold Me Fast.” Matt and his wife, Erica, live with their two children in Nashville, Tennessee, where they are members of Trinity Church.

SERIES:
Short Studies in Biblical Theology

The Short Studies in Systematic Theology series aims to equip readers to understand, teach, love, and apply what God has revealed in Scripture. Each volume introduces a major doctrine, develops it from Scripture, and brings it to bear on the Christian life. These accessible volumes draw from both the Christian tradition and contemporary theology, and are perfect for introducing laypeople, pastors, students, and teachers to what God has revealed in his written word. See pages 52-53 for a full list of series volumes.

SERIES:
Building Healthy Churches

Each of these short, readable books are derived from the best-selling book Nine Marks of a Healthy Church by Mark Dever. Useful for group studies, or even as visitors’ gifts, these books are ideal for everyone from the casual attendee to ministry leaders. This series helps readers grasp the basic biblical commands regarding the local church so they can play their part in building a healthy congregation.

See pages 58-59 for a full list of series volumes.
Foundational to a healthy church is a biblical model of church leadership. In the New Testament, church leadership is rarely a one-person endeavor—it is built around a plurality of elders working together, each bringing his own unique skills and gifts to the cause of shepherding the flock God has entrusted to them. There are many benefits to this model of leadership: being part of a team helps a church leader know his role, submit to authority, learn humility, and think about his gifts and position through the lens of what serves the church rather than his personal agenda. This argument in favor of elder plurality focuses on how churches can both build a healthy one and thrive as congregations once one is established.

DISTINCTIVES

• Foreword by Sam Storms
• Examines the biblical model of church leadership
• Gives practical advice on how to build a healthy plurality in a local church
• Provides tools to diagnose the strength and substance of a local church plurality

SHARON W. BETTERS AND SUSAN HUNT
AGING WITH GRACE
Flourishing in an Anti-Aging Culture

There are many blessings that come with age: retirement, grandchildren, travel, and life experience. But today’s culture marginalizes old age, often portraying it as burdensome and hopeless. Older women can feel like an encumbrance rather than a blessing to their friends and family members. In response to these struggles, Sharon Betters and Susan Hunt encourage women to find hope through both present-day and biblical accounts of women who rediscovered gospel-rooted joy later in life. In each chapter, readers will be encouraged as they experience afresh a gospel that is big enough, good enough, and powerful enough to make every season of life significant and glorious.

DISTINCTIVES
• Challenges women of all ages to think biblically about aging
• Includes reflection questions
• Equips older women to tell younger women about the beauty of old age
• Encourages younger women to learn the biblical principles of flourishing in old age
• Includes an interview with the authors conducted by Karen Hodge, the director of women’s ministries for the Presbyterian Church in America (PCA)

AUDIENCE

SUSAN HUNT is a mother, a grandmother, and the former director of women’s ministries for the Presbyterian Church in America (PCA). Hunt has written a number of books, including Spiritual Mothering.

JANI ORTLUND
HELP! I’M MARRIED TO MY PASTOR
Encouragement for Ministry Wives and Those Who Love Them

A woman marries a man, not his ministry, but all too often her husband’s calling infringes upon many aspects of their life together. What if ministry life isn’t what she bargained for? What happens when her children make mistakes? How does she deal with church gossip, or even slander? As a pastor’s wife of almost 50 years, Jani Ortlund addresses these questions along with many others as she offers encouragement and guidance to ministry wives, reminding them that God works out his delightfully good purposes in and through their sacrifice.

DISTINCTIVES
• Foreword by Ray Ortlund
• Addresses the unique hardships and fears ministry wives face on a regular basis
• Each chapter includes personal stories from different ministry wives in difficult situations
• Calls ministry wives to a more intimate faith and deeper hope as they seek to serve Christ
• Each chapter concludes with a short letter to the husband in ministry to help facilitate better communication with his wife

AUDIENCE
Wives with husbands in ministry; family members and friends who want to encourage ministry wives; church leaders

Jani, a former schoolteacher, holds a master’s degree in education, and is now serving as executive vice president at Renewal Ministries (ortlund.net). The Ortlunds have four children and fifteen grandchildren.
THE HEART OF ANGER
How the Bible Transforms Anger in Our Understanding and Experience

Everyone experiences anger—in their own hearts and in the words and actions of others. In this doctrinal, pastoral, and practical book, Christopher Ash and Steve Midgley explore the Bible’s teaching about anger through biblical examples such as Moses, Saul, David, and the Ephesian church as well as present-day accounts. Though sometimes right and godly, anger is more often rooted in greed, lust, love of control, or pride. Only once the source of anger is recognized can the gospel of Jesus Christ—God’s perfect wrath poured out on his Son for the sins of many—bring true freedom, transforming a heart of anger into a heart filled with the love of God.

DISTINCTIVES
• A survey of anger looking at biblical examples from the Old and New Testaments
• Explains how a proper understanding of God’s wrath through the gospel of Jesus Christ can transform human anger
• Considers the role of the local church in the healing of anger

AUDIENCE

RECOVERING THE LOST ART OF READING
A Quest for the True, the Good, and the Beautiful

In today’s technology-driven culture, reading has become a lost art. With smartphones offering information at the tap of a finger, reading a book is often seen as a tedious and outdated activity. Christians are not immune to this problem, as many find it hard to read books—even the Bible—consistently and attentively. Recovering the Lost Art of Reading addresses these timely issues by exploring the importance of reading generally as well as studying the Bible as literature, giving practical suggestions along the way. This helpful guide, Leland Ryken and Glenda Faye Mathes encourage a new generation of readers to overcome the notion of reading as a duty and learn to see it as a delight.

DISTINCTIVES
• Offers a detailed analysis of of the impact reading has on the Christian life
• Examines different types of reading
• Provides tips for reading different genres and styles
• Addresses questions such as What is literature?; Why does literature matter?; and What does literature offer?

A Quest for the True, the Good, and the Beautiful

In today’s technology-driven culture, reading has become a lost art. With smartphones offering information at the tap of a finger, reading a book is often seen as a tedious and outdated activity. Christians are not immune to this problem, as many find it hard to read books—even the Bible—consistently and attentively. Recovering the Lost Art of Reading addresses these timely issues by exploring the importance of reading generally as well as studying the Bible as literature, giving practical suggestions along the way. In this helpful guide, Leland Ryken and Glenda Faye Mathes encourage a new generation of readers to overcome the notion of reading as a duty and learn to see it as a delight.

DISTINCTIVES
• Offers a detailed analysis of of the impact reading has on the Christian life
• Examines different types of reading
• Provides tips for reading different genres and styles
• Addresses questions such as What is literature?; Why does literature matter?; and What does literature offer?

AUDIENCE
Anyone interested in learning more about the art of reading; Christian readers; laypeople; pastors and teachers

LELAND RYKEN (PhD, University of Oregon) served as professor of English at Wheaton College for nearly fifty years. He has authored or edited over fifty books, including The Word of God in English and A Complete Handbook of Literary Forms in the Bible. He is a frequent speaker at the Evangelical Theological Society’s annual meetings and served as literary stylist for the English Standard Version Bible.

GLENDRA FAYE MATHE (BLS, University of Iowa) is a professional writer with a passion for literary excellence. She has authored over a thousand articles and several nonfiction books as well as the Matthew in the Middle fiction series. Glenda has been the featured speaker at women’s conferences and at seminars for prison inmates.
COME, THOU LONG-EXPECTED JESUS
Experience the Peace and Promise of Christmas

Between purchasing presents and planning travel, enjoying holiday pageants and attending parties, it is all too easy for the busyness of Christmas to crowd out a quiet anticipation of this sacred season. This anthology edited by Nancy Guthrie draws from the works and sermons of classic theologians such as George Whitefield, Martin Luther, Charles Spurgeon, and Augustine, and from leading contemporary teachers such as John Piper, Randy Alcorn, Tim Keller, and Joni Eareckson Tada to help readers enter into the wonder of Jesus’s incarnation and birth.

Each of the twenty-two essays in this volume expounds on a particular aspect of the Christmas story and includes the appropriate Scripture passage. It is sure to awaken people’s longing and prepare their hearts for a fresh experience of the coming of Jesus each and every Christmas season.

DISTINCTIVES
• Edited by Nancy Guthrie, author of the Seeing Jesus in the Old Testament series
• Meditations on Christmas by respected and best-selling authors and teachers
• Insightful contributions by classic and contemporary men and women of God
• Elegant new hardcover design

AUDIENCE
Thoughtful Christian readers looking for good, Christ-centered Christmas reading; those looking for an Advent devotional

NANCY GUTHRIE teaches the Bible at her home church, Cornerstone Presbyterian Church in Franklin, Tennessee, as well as at conferences around the country and internationally, including her Biblical Theology Workshops for Women. She is the host of the Help Me Teach the Bible podcast from the Gospel Coalition and the author of numerous books, including Even Better than Eden and Saints and Scoundrels in the Story of Jesus. She and her husband are cohosts of the GriefShare video series and lead Respite Retreats for couples who have faced the death of a child.

Systematic theology is often seen as a dusty academic discipline. But theology is not just an academic subject—it is also a spiritual practice. Reformed Systematic Theology brings together rigorous, theological scholarship and spiritual practicality. The series draws extensively on the historical theology of the Reformed tradition, presenting doctrine in a manner suitable for a seminary class but also accessible to Christians without academic training. This series explores the topics of systematic theology from a biblical, doctrinal, and practical level, helping readers grow in their understanding of the truth presented in God's word.

SECTION 1: REVELATION AND GOD

 vending:

The first volume in the Reformed Systematic Theology series draws on the historical theology of the Reformed tradition, exploring 2 of 8 central points of systematic theology—revelation and God—with an accessible, comprehensive, and experiential approach.

SECTION 2: MAN AND CHRIST

 vending:

The second installment in the Reformed Systematic Theology series draws on historical theology of the Reformed tradition, exploring the doctrines of man and Christ with an accessible, comprehensive, and experiential approach.

SERIES DISTINCTIVES

- Multivolume work that will cover the entire scope of systematic theology based on 8 central themes: revelation, God, man, Christ, the Holy Spirit, salvation, the church, and last things
- Draws extensively from historic Reformed and Puritan sources
- Written in a modern and broadly accessible style

FORTHCOMING VOLUMES

ENDORSEMENTS FOR SERIES VOLUMES

“Practical. Convicting. Biblically faithful. Church Membership is punchy and provocative, but at the same time it is permeated with the gospel of grace.”
THOMAS R. SCHREINER, James Buchanan Harrison Professor of New Testament, The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary

“Evangelism is rich in practical implications, not despite its incessant focus on Jesus and the gospel, but precisely because of such focus. It deserves to be read, pondered, and implemented.”
D. A. CARSON, Emeritus Professor of New Testament, Trinity Evangelical Divinity School; Cofounder, The Gospel Coalition
PREACHING THE WORD®
Editor: R. Kent Hughes

This commentary series was written by pastors for pastors and their churches. With R. Kent Hughes, former professor of practical theology at Westminster Theological Seminary, as the general editor, these volumes feature experienced pastors and teachers who model expository preaching and practical application. This series is noted for its steadfast commitment to biblical authority, clear exposition of Scripture, and readability—making it widely accessible for both new and seasoned pastors, as well as for men and women who are eager to read the Bible in a fresh way.

ENDORSEMENTS FOR THE SERIES

“Throughout the Christian centuries, working pastors have been proving themselves to be the best of all Bible expositors. Kent Hughes stands in this great tradition, and his exciting expositions uphold it well...”

J. I. PACKER, Late Board of Governors’ Professor of Theology, Regent College

“There is a long history of informed, edifying Biblical expositions that have been mightily used of God to shape and strengthen the church. These volumes admirably fit this tradition.”

D. A. CARSON, Theologian-at-Large, The Gospel Coalition

“It is a pleasure to commend this series of homiletical commentaries. They fill an enormous vacuum that exists between the practical needs of the pastor/teacher and the critical exegetical depth of most commentaries.”

WALTER C. KAIser JR., President Emeritus and Distinguished Professor of Old Testament and Ethics, Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary

“This series resonates with the priorities of the pulpit. No academic aloofness here, but down-to-earth, preacher-to-preacher meat for God’s people.”

BRYAN CHAPPELL, Senior Pastor, Grace Presbyterian Church (PCA), Peoria, Illinois

SERIES DISTINCTIVES

• Drawing on years of pastoral ministry experience, each author offers readers a unique combination of nuanced pastoral insights, careful biblical exegesis, and relevant practical application

KNOWING THE BIBLE®
Theological Editor: J. I. Packer | Series Editor: Dane C. Ortlund

This Bible study series is designed to help readers better understand and apply God's word. These 12-week studies lead participants through books of the Bible, asking reflection questions and making practical applications and connections to the rest of Scripture. With contributions from an array of church leaders, these studies will help Christians cherish the message of God’s grace on every page of the Bible.

“Knowing the Bible brings together a gifted team of Bible teachers to produce a high-quality series of study guides.”
PHILIP GRAHAM RYKEN, President, Wheaton College

“What a gift to earnest, Bible-loving, Bible-searching believers! What potential growth in depth and breadth of understanding these studies offer. One can only pray that vast numbers of believers will discover more of God and the beauty of his Word through these rich studies.”
BRUCE A. WARE, Professor of Christian Theology, The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary

“I heartily endorse this orientation of individual books to the whole Bible and the gospel, and I applaud the demonstration that sound theology was not something invented later by Christians, but is right there in the pages of Scripture.”
GRAEME GOLDSWORTHY, Former Lecturer in Old Testament, Biblical Theology, and Hermeneutics, Moore Theological College

“The skilled authors and notable editors provide the contours of each book of the Bible as well as the grand theological themes that bind them together.”
R. KENT HUGHES, Former Professor of Practical Theology, Westminster Theological Seminary
